

BERGIN COLLEGE of CANINE STUDIES

Where love meets service. Every gentle pet and warm hug to our puppies, every moment of care for our service dogs-in-training, and every dollar donated to our nonprofit organization transforms lives. At Bergin College of Canine Studies, we believe in the power of service dogs. The love that efficiently transforms human lives for the better has four furry legs and a happy, unstoppable tail.

To our incredible puppy petters, your sincere moments of connection help these future service dogs learn trust, gentleness, and human connection. Your warmth is their first lesson in empathy.

To our devoted fosters, you are the superheroes who nurture potential, courage, and character within our dogs. By opening your homes and hearts, you're not just fostering a puppy – you're preparing a lifeline for someone who yearns for connection, independence, and the ability to explore the world to their heart's content.

To our generous donors, your support doesn't just fund a program – it funds freedom. Each contribution helps train our dogs, allowing them to become mobility assistants, PTSD relievers, and bridges to independence for individuals facing significant challenges mentally and/or physically.

Recently, our valued client, Dr. Denise Fleming of CSU East Bay, got paired with Finley, a wonderfully-trained and happy Golden Retriever-Labrador mix. Finley and Denise successfully accomplished Bergin's rigorous client training and are an official Bergin service dog team! Finley proudly wears her service dog vest and allows Denise to live her life to the fullest. Your love made this happen.

We're not just raising Service Dogs. Together, we're creating miracles that restore dignity, provide support, and transform lives through the power of education.

We operate from a place of love, with a focus on service. Your love changes lives forever.
